Roles of enterprises in vocational training in Vietnam

Mai Hong Ngoc

Major: Economic Management

Publishing year: 2014

Supervisor: Dr. Ta Duc Khanh

Research purposes:

- Objectives:
  Studying the theoretical and practical issues on vocational training and the participation of enterprises in vocational training; proposing measures to promoting the businesses' participation in vocational training in Vietnam, which contributes to the qualitative and qualified human resource supply for the industrialization and modernization.

- Missions:
  - Systematizing theory and practical on vocational training in Vietnam and experiences from other countries.
  - Analyzing the current enterprises' participation in vocational training in Vietnam through assessing major characteristics of the relationship between enterprises and vocational training system.
  - Proposing measures to promote enterprises' participation in vocational training in Vietnam.

New contributions:

- Studying enterprises' roles in vocational training; characteristics of the relationship between enterprises and vocational training system; the need of promoting enterprises' participation in vocational training in Vietnam in order to develop a qualified and quantitative human resources satisfying the demand of work.
- Proposing measures to promote effective enterprises' participation in vocational training in Vietnam