Improving the efficiency of capital in the Hai Van Construction Investment Joint Stock Company.

TRIEU NGOC HAI YEN

Major: Economic Management

Publishing year: 2014

Supervisor: Assoc Prof, Dr. NGO QUANG MINH

Research purposes:

Systematize fundamentals of capital, capital use, evaluation criterias and especially the efficiency of capital use in the Construction Enterprise. On that basis, analyse and evaluate the actual state of capital use and efficiency of capital use in Hai Van Construction Investment Joint Stock Company from year of 2009 to 2012.

From the analyzation and evaluation, propose solutions and feasible recommendations in order to improve the effectiency of capital use in Hai Van Construction Investment Joint Stock Company in the prospective time.

New contributions:

In the economic climate changes and complicated as present, the efficient use of capital needs to have flexibility, especially with construction companies. The contents of this thesis focuses on assessing the current situation of capital use in Hai Van Construction Investment Joint Stock Company, find out shortcomings need to be overcomed and reasons of these maters in order to participate in supporting the company to further enhance the efficiency of its capital use.